Mary MacKillop's Courage

I often wonder how courage works. Because I so often feel like a coward, I marvel at people who can take physical risks or travel through dangerous countries alone. Too many "what if" scenarios would paralyse me. Yet when I look at the life of Mary MacKillop, I see a different courage in which all of us can share. In fact, many people we know live that type of courage on a daily basis.

All of us have dreams and ideals but life has a way of knocking off not only the shine off our dreams but even of dragging them through the dirt. Then we are tempted to give up. Courage is not just keeping our dreams but also adapting them to the new circumstances. Mary had that courage. Through rejection by her Church, problems within her own community, tragedy in her family, illness in her life, she carried on with her belief that simple, good education into the love of God and basic skills could transform the life of the poor. By the time she died, she and her sisters had become a force for transformation across two countries.

Most peoples' dreams revolve around love and making life better for the people they love. Yet the circumstances of daily life seem to work against our ability to love. Illness, unemployment or too much work, the stresses of caring for different people or troublesome neighbours can undermine the buoyancy of our hearts. It is then we need the courage of a Mary MacKillop which faces these cares squarely and continues the dream of love.

Ever-loving God, your Holy Spirit inspires the dreams deep in my heart, especially the ones to love deeply my family. May Mary MacKillop's example inspire me us into the ways of faithful love, especially when life gets tough. We ask this in Jesus' name confident that you will hear us.

Dear Parents and Carers,

The busyness of school life continues in Term 3 with many events for families to join us at school. These events are mentioned in this newsletter and on the website calendar. This is a live google calendar so please check it regularly www.stpauls.tas.edu.au.

We hope you can join us. I am still eager to meet every family and I apologise that this has taken me longer than I first anticipated. If you have anything urgent that you are waiting to touch base with me about please book an appointment at the office, otherwise I will be in touch shortly.

Last week our Early Years classes celebrated 100 days of school. The staff and children really enjoyed the day with the children wearing some amazing outfits and getting totally involved in the activities with "100" theme. Thank you to everyone for your amazing effort with costumes.

Choices for Term 3 will commence next week. Mr Morgan has asked for volunteers who may have a skill to share with our children. If you can help please see Mr Morgan ASAP. We thank those parents who have already kindly donated their time and skills.

FAST (Families and Schools Together) has made a successful start to the eight week program with parents commenting to me that it is such a great opportunity to get to know other families and to share time and skills as a family. Thank you to Sr Carmel, Kieren Shanahan and Erikka for organising this valuable community experience.

This Friday will be Mrs Louise Florence's last day at St Paul's Catholic School before she and her husband take time to prepare for their very important next step of welcoming their first child into their family. We wish them well.

We welcome back Reuben Oates, an Aboriginal Artist, who will work with children to design an artwork including the individual story stones that the children completed with Reuben at the end of last term. Reuben will also be participating in our Choices program with a small group of children.

We also welcome Miss Emma Williams to our school. Emma will be the support teacher in the Early Years and will work in Year One when Miss Woodhouse is taking PE. We welcome Emma to our St Paul's family. Please drop in and say hello and make her welcome.

Another good news story is that we congratulate Miss Jasmine and her husband, Ahren. Jasmine and Ahren are expecting their first child later in the year. We wish them all the best as they prepare for this important next step in their family life.
